FSU ACCESS AGREEMENT OPTIONS:

I hereby grant to The Florida State University and its agents the non-exclusive license to archive and distribute, under the conditions specified below, my thesis, in-whole or in-part in all forms of media, now or hereafter known. I retain all other ownership rights to the copyright of the thesis. I also retain the right to use in future works (such as articles or books) all or part of this thesis. I also hereby certify that:

- If appropriate, I have obtained a written permission statement from the owner(s) of each third party copyrighted matter included in my thesis, treatise or dissertation (ETD) allowing distribution as specified below; and
- The version of the thesis I submitted is the same as that approved by my advisory committee.

The manuscript must be made available in its complete and original format. It cannot be subdivided into chapters and disseminated under different distribution options.

I agree that the above mentioned manuscript be placed in Florida State's ETD Digital Library with the following status

(Select Access Option 1a, 1b or Option 2):

☐ (Option 1a) World Wide Distribution Access

World Wide Distribution or Campus Only Access is recommended to all of our students.

World Wide Distribution Access - This option makes the student's thesis freely available through the World Wide Web via eventual posting in the FSU Digital Library Repository. Student's work also becomes available to all users of the World Wide Web via unknown number of search engines (e.g. Google, Yahoo!, etc.).

*Removal of thesis from FSU Digital Library Repository as a later date does not remove student's work from the cache memory of unknown number of search engines that may have crawled, indexed, and cached student's work from the FSU

Digital Library Repository. Removal from the search engine's cache becomes the student's responsibility.

By checking this option, I hereby grant to FSU and its agents the non-exclusive license to permanently archive and make accessible my thesis in whole or in part in all forms of media, now or hereafter known. I retain all other ownership rights to the copyright of the thesis. I also retain the right to use in future works (such as articles or books) all or part of this thesis.

☐ (Option 1b) Campus Only Access Distribution

Campus Only Access Distribution – This option makes the student's thesis freely available to individuals logged in to the FSU network via eventual posting in the FSU Digital Library Repository.

By checking this option, I hereby grant to FSU and its agents the non-exclusive license to permanently archive and make accessible my thesis in whole or in part in all forms of media, now or hereafter known. I retain all other ownership rights to the copyright of the thesis. I also retain the right to use in future works (such as articles or books) all or part of this thesis.

☐ (Option 2) Embargoed Access (up to 24 months)

This option requires approval by completing the Embargo Request Form

The Embargo Access Option is recommended to students who have a patent application in process or who want to restrict access to their manuscript for a limited amount of time in order to pursue commercial interests or other publication. After the restricted time period, the manuscript will be made freely available through World Wide Distribution. Students may also select to restrict their manuscripts via Campus Community-Only Access after a traditional embargo of their manuscripts has expired. If students want to restrict access of their manuscripts via Campus Community-Only Access after a traditional embargo of their manuscripts has expired, they must select the appropriate "Access Agreement Option After Embargo Request Expires" on the "Electronic Thesis Embargo Request Form

Approval:

I hereby certify that, if appropriate, I have obtained and attached hereto a written permission statement from the owner(s) of each third party copyrighted matter to be included in my thesis allowing distribution as specified above. I certify that the version of my thesis submitted for posting in Florida State University's institutional repository is the same as that approved by my faculty committee.
